Islamist Groups and Symbols

This is not an exhaustive list of all extremist signs and symbols but does show some of the iconography known to have been circulated within the UK. Some are designated terrorist organisations with no footprint or aspirations within the UK but may have seen support from British individuals, which could involve travel or providing financial assistance, and some are activists groups whose activity may be indicative of favourable community sentiment towards particular ideologies and grievance narratives, which could be exploited by extremists and terrorists to radicalise and recruit individuals. The presence of a sign or symbol in isolation does not necessarily indicate criminal or extremist intent. Some symbols have religious, historical or mythological connotations and have been adopted and misappropriated by extremist groups. Disclaimer: Possessing information likely to be useful to a terrorist (Section 58 Terrorism Act 2000) including material that is viewed repeatedly, streamed online, downloaded, stored on a computer, saved on a separate device or printed off as a hard copy is an offence carrying a maximum sentence of up to 15 years' imprisonment. Partners are asked not to conduct independent research into any of the materials or titles listed.
