Who we are

Educ8 provide independent Alternative Education schools across England to support learners at risk of exclusion, or who are disengaged from mainstream education.

Initially formed in Leicester in 2009 by Jevon Payne and Tim Warner, Educ8 Leicester provided a single vocational sports programme as a part time alternative provision. Educ8 has since become a national independent provider that has developed its vocational offer to include 9 vocational programmes delivering in 4 geographical locations.

Our Mission

To provide a rich education in which our learners can thrive with:

- > improved life skills
- > career pathways
- > and positive progression

We aim for reintegration back into mainstream school or for a positive post-16 destination.

What we offer

Support the emotional, social, and sometimes spiritual well-being of its students, provided within the school but outside the formal academic curriculum. Smaller class sizes allow for closer relationships and more personalised support.

Student Outcomes

Students will work toward functional skills maths and english, applied science and a choice of various vocational programmes. These include Sports, Hair and Beauty, Health and Social Care and eSports.
